Host with Flair

Sometimes, things unfold when you least expect them.
You may spend a lifetime waiting for your greatest dream to take shape, only to realize that the moment has not yet come. And then, one day, you stop waiting.

You set the thought aside, carry on with your everyday life... until suddenly, there it is. A spark. An intuition. A fleeting idea whose future you can't quite see, but one that already feels like the beginning of something beautiful.

That is how this extraordinary journey began,
A meeting between Corso Patrizi and me. Both members of ADSI, each of us custodian of a place steeped in history and emotion: he, a magnificent residence within one of Rome's most splendid palaces; I, a charming villa in the Tuscia countryside. United by a shared desire: to open our doors, to bring these spaces to life in an exclusive, meaningful and intelligent way.

From this encounter, our joint project was born.
I had long wished for a home in Rome that truly reflected me, a place where I could host table décor experiences and cooking classes, a setting that would inspire and enchant. A place with the same timeless elegance as Corso Patrizi's dining room.

Together, we are giving life to an ambitious concept:
an experience where every guest becomes part of a living story.
One might travel through time, propose by candlelight to the sound of a violin, or wander through the grand salons of Palazzo Patrizi as Corso reveals their treasures and untold secrets. Guests may enjoy tea in an elegant sitting room accompanied by a piano's soft melody, or join me in the art of table setting, arranging antique porcelain, crystal stemware and crisp linen napkins.

Through these moments, I hope to share my infinite passion for the art of hosting: graceful, thoughtful, and effortless.
This is only the beginning of a journey filled with creativity and emotion... and we promise, there is so much beauty to come.
